

Product Notice:

Engineering prototype only
Not for qualification or production.

Customer Letter

Dear Customer,

The purpose of this letter is to ensure that you understand the nature of Freescale's prototype products.

Freescale provides a class of products that are referred to as prototype products. These products are engineering prototypes and will have a "P" or "ENG" in their part number prefix however excluding software, development tools and reference designs, those parts beginning with a P1 – P5 are not prototype products unless they have a "P" or "L" in the 6th character space. Freescale offers these products only to enable you to evaluate Freescale's new products for form, fit, function or performance.

It is important for you to understand that these prototypes are not intended for qualification or use in production. These prototype products are provided "AS IS" without any warranty whatsoever from Freescale. Further, Freescale may change the specifications for these prototype products without notice. Lastly, you will exclude any defects in these prototype products from your quality rating, scorecards, and evaluations for future business.

July 2012