

16 September 2015

Ref: AMD150 / AFE220 Obsolete notice

This notice is to inform everyone that the AMD150 and AFE220 ranges will not meet the new Level VI energy efficiency requirements that are scheduled to be effective in 2016. We have decided to obsolete these ranges and they will no longer be available after December 31, 2015. The AMD150 range is quite old and will not be upgraded to meet the new Level VI standard. We will be replacing the AFE220 series with a new AHE220 range that is scheduled to be released in November 2015.

If you have any customers that are currently purchasing either of these series they will need to be made aware of the situation and offered a last time buy. See the attached list of customers that have purchased either of these products during the past two years. All customer orders need to be received by December 22, 2015 so we will have time to process orders with the factory. All product will need to be shipped to customers by March 15, 2016. .

If you have any questions, please contact feel free to contact me to discuss.

Best Regards

Duane Darrow
Marketing Manager