

安费诺硕民科技(深圳)有限公司

Amphenol Shouh Min Industry(Shen Zhen) Co.,Ltd

制程变更通知单(for Customer)

Process Change Notification for Customer

客户名称 Customer: _____ 变更编号 Change Number: _____ 1800004

|                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                      |                  |
|-----------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------|------------------|
| 料号 P/N                | 101002718210100306 (269)82                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 变更时间Change Time  | 2018/04/19       |
| 品名 P/D                | SIM CARD 6(8)PIN                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 变更场所Change Place | Amphenol Molding |
| 变更理由Change Reason | At present, the resin LCPE6810 is used to produce molding parts. Due to the special characteristics of this resin, plastic chips generates during molding process and stick to the mold, burr around the molding parts happens when the chips accumulates to a certain degree. To eliminate the burrs for improving quality and efficiency, new resin LCPG245 is recommended. We apply for this change after getting positive results, please refer to the pictures below |                      |                  |
| 变更项目Change Item   | Change raw resin from LCP E6810 to LCP G245                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                      |                  |

变更内容 Change Content

变更前 Before Change(P/N:8010001582/1682)

变更后 After Change(P/N:8010001582/1682)

相关资料及报告:

Relevant reports and information

品质部 QA Approved

蒋卫军 4/23/18

开发部 R&D Approved

卢成伟 4/23/18

客户承认 Customer Approved

客户签名
Customer Sign

- 同意 Agree
- 不同意 Disagree

备注说明 Remarks