

ZD-153(SM0KE A5S0R8ER)IS...

Soldering work requires a flux

This flux is mainly composed of rosin-resin, and is mixed with a slight activator (halogen organic agent), which is commonly called "pine resin."

Abietic acid(C<sub>20</sub>H<sub>30</sub>O<sub>2</sub>), the main component of rosin is denatured to neo-abietic acid when the temperature is increased. In this process, noxious components such as salicylic acid (HOC<sub>6</sub>H<sub>4</sub>COOH) and pinene are generated in the evaporating smoke.

Flux containing large quantities of resin generate phenol (C<sub>6</sub>H<sub>5</sub>OH), and activators generate hydrogen chloride (HCL), etc.

The permissible concentrations for such noxious gases are regulated by the Japan association for Industrial sanitation standards ACGIH standard, etc. Inhalation of such noxious components will result in headaches, nausea, eye irritations, etc.

ZD-153 is a newly developed product with a high performance fan and an activated carbon filter designed to absorb flux and lead fumes.
