

Dear All,

The April 2017 price list is now available to download from Maxim's E-Commerce site. New product additions and obsolete parts are included with effective date of 05/03/2017. Price changes will be effective in the next price list update next month. Please note that we are now starting to include the MOQ file. The three following files are attached for your reference:

1. Adds / Obs File: Communicates products which have been added since the previous monthly publication, and become effective immediately as of the current price list publication. The Obsolescence tab goes with the New Addition contain obsolete parts that have been removed from the price list or added back to the price list effective immediately. The notice for the changes to these parts has already been sent to our partners via Maxim's obsolescence process, and so no further notification is needed.
2. Changes File: Communicates pricing and status changes which will go into effect at the next monthly publication. The next publication is presently planned to take place on May 3, 2017 (Pacific Time).
3. MOQ Changes File: Communicates MOQ changes which will go into effect at the next monthly publication. The next publication is presently planned to take place on May 3, 2017 (Pacific Time).

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thank you,
