MG1033	Electronics Board
Description	Reads gCode from your printer's on board computer and relays those coded commands to the various components of your M3. The electronics board is crucial to the operation of the M3 3D printer.
	You can think of the electronics board as an intermediary between you—the commander of all 3D printing operations, and your M3, the highly-coordinated performer of all 3D printing operations.
	Though small, this little thing packs a serious punch!
