Dear Fluke Distributor:

The 707Ex is being discontinued effective July 1, 2021. The closest replacement for the 707Ex is the standard Fluke 707 though the 707 does not have an intrinsically safe rating. One other replacement option is the 725Ex though this is not an option for EU or other customers that require an ATEX certification.

This letter is your notification of our product change.

The 707Ex, first introduced in 2003 does not meet the new ATEX regulations taking force in July 2021 and redesign of the existing product was not feasible.

PLEASE INFORM ALL RELEVANT PERSONNEL WITHIN YOUR ORGANIZATION.
