

Product End of life – A02ESH Series

August 16, 2021

This notice is to advise our customers that APEM, Inc. will be obsoleting its line of A02ESH emergency stop products. This offering will be replaced by the XW series offered by IDEC. We advise our customers to look at the list below for the IDEC alternates. These products are available from IDEC and their distribution partners. These parts are identical to the current products with the exception that the markings on the switch will contain the Logo and branding of our parent company IDEC.

If you have any questions or concerns, please consult your APEM contact.
