Delivery Delays for SS94 Magnetic Sensor ICs and CSLA2 Current Sensors

Regions Affected: GLOBAL

Dear Valued Customer,

You are receiving this communication because you have been identified as a customer for Honeywell's SS94 series magnetic ICs or CSLA2 series current sensors. Honeywell SST is experiencing a new challenge stemming from down-time on a critical equipment needed to produce SS94 Magnetics Sensor ICs and CSLA2 Current Sensors.

Honeywell is confident that the path for resolution has been identified. The current estimated down-time for this equipment is (3) months. We understand this will cause disruptions to our customers and we are actively exploring all options to improve the lead time.

In addition, a last-time-buy notice for the CSLA2 series was communicated to affected customers in January 2022. This communication is not a re-instatement announcement. Honeywell will not accept new orders for the CSLA2 series.

Thank you for your continued business.
